

UN Human Rights Council – 46th session – Geneva - online

Joint NGO statement on the recognition at the universal level of the right of all to a safe, clean, healthy and sustainable environment

Thank you, Madam President.

This statement is delivered on behalf of 20 organizations. The full list of which is available on the extranet.

We convey today the call endorsed by 1'100 organizations urging this Council to recognize the right of all to a safe, clean, healthy and sustainable environment. In this appeal initiated at the last Council's session, organizations from more than 100 countries and from a great diversity of constituencies rallied around the recognition that "The Time Is Now" for the protection of our right to a healthy planet.

We welcome the remarkable joint statement of UN agencies and we fully support the statement delivered by the core group, asking States to engage constructively in this process at the Council.

All these calls reflect the fact that a large majority of States already have such a right in their Constitutions and laws, and that it's explicitly recognized by regional systems. The time is ripe for the global recognition of this right which is a matter of utmost urgency.

Three global environmental crises – the pollution crisis, the biodiversity crisis and the global warming crisis, as identified by UNEP and science– already violate and jeopardize today the human rights of billions of people. Human rights must be fully protected in the face of these increasing and intersecting environmental crises.

Thank you for your attention
